Whether you're in the mood for Italian, Ethiopian, fine dining or simply looking for a quaint bistro off the beaten path, our region can boast some of the best restaurants around! And WindsorEats.com, Essex County's first online dining guide, helps food lovers everywhere get a taste of what our region has to offer.

At just 26 years of age, owner Adriano Ciotoli's vision to tell the world about Windsor's exceptional restaurants has taken off. Along with partner Pina Ciotoli (his sister), this duo are making sure that everyone knows about the area's great restaurants.

"We get emails from people across the world," said Adriano.

"The majority of our site visitors are local but we often get people coming to the city for business or a holiday and just want recommendations on the best places to eat."

With an overwhelming 20,000 hits a month and growing, WindsorEats.com has become the online resource for dining in Essex County. From Windsor to Leamington, Japan to Chile, Russia to Ireland, people worldwide are using WindsorEats.com!

This unique site lets you browse menus and get all the information you need about a restaurant before you head out the door. After another successful year providing Windsor and Essex County with easy access to menus from some of the best restaurants in the area, WindsorEats.com now offers the ability to make reservations online. Whether it's a romantic dinner for two, a family event or a night out with friends, it's now easier than ever to reserve a table at Windsor's hottest dining spots.

With articles every month by local chefs, sommeliers and food lovers, WindsorEats.com is always fresh and up to date. Check out their new FoodBlog to get the latest about events around the county, try out new recipes or learn a little food history. New restaurants, features coupons and events are added every month, so keep checking out the site!
